v.

Philip Louis Lucero, Appellant

In the above-entitled matter the court filed its decision on July 13, 2000, because of the following extraordinary and compelling circumstances:

1. The size of the record (the clerk's and reporter's transcripts totalling approximately 7,800 pages).
2. The necessity to grant appellant, for good cause, 7 extensions of time within which to file the appellant's opening brief.
3. The necessity to issue an order, after appellant had failed to file a timely opening brief, warning counsel that the court would consider issuing an order to show cause why he should not be held in contempt if the brief was not filed within two weeks.
4. The necessity to grant respondent, for good cause, 2 extensions of time within which to file the respondent's brief.
5. The necessity to grant appellant, for good cause, 5 extensions of time within which to file the appellant's reply brief.
6. The necessity to issue an order, after appellant had failed to file a timely reply brief, warning counsel that the court would consider issuing an order to show cause why he should not be held in contempt if the brief was not file within three weeks.
7. The number and complexity of the issues presented.
